NATIVE SONS WANT LESS NOMINAL CONTROL BY BRITAIN

Claiming that the present system of appointing a representative of the British King in Canada was obsolete and that it placed the Canadian government in apparent subservience to the British government, the National Assembly of the Native Sons of Canada, in annual convention at Winnipeg on Tuesday, passed a resolution asking that the name of the King's representative be changed from "governor-general" to "viceroi."

The resolution also asked that the appointment be made by the King direct and not as at present through the British government or some department of that government. Such action for His Majesty by His British government was in the opinion of the convention a direct admission that the British government retained its governmental oversight over Canada in the same way as it did over the crown colonies and similar territories.

The convention also expressed its dissatisfaction with another alleged obsolete Canadian constitutional point: That which permits the Canadian governor-general to disallow or make subject to reservation legislation passed by the Canadian parliament. This right has not been exercised since 1878, but it irritates the loyal native sons to realize that it is there, it was declared.—Ex.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Mrs. Swart and Metta and Gordon are spending a couple of weeks visiting in Lethbridge.

Mrs. Harry Hannan and two sons, Tom and Billie, of Lethbridge, have come to town to spend two months holiday, renewing acquaintances.

Miss Hilda Hannan, who was reared to young womanhood in Cowley, and who studied piano for the first several years of her musical career under the tutelage of Mrs. A. S. Donald here, and who moved to Calgary only a few years ago with her parents, where she continued her musical education, on entering the recent musical examinations from the Toronto Conservatory of Music, was successful in attaining her A.T.C.M.

Following are the marks of Cowley candidates, violin pupils of Mr. W. H. Moser, from the Toronto Conservatory of Music: Verda Cleland 70 (honors), Sandy McEwen 73 (honors), Verduin Leigh 77 (honors), Nellie Nelson 80 (first-class honors). Pupils of Mrs. A. S. Donald, from the same conservatory: Freda White 70 (honors), Muriel Marlow 80 (first-class honors), Barbara Bundy 90 (first-class honors). Piano: Muriel Smyth 60 (pass), Marion Morrison 60 (first-class honors), Edith Murphy 63 (first-class honors), Clara Bundy 84 (first-class honors), Sylvia Murphy 85 (first-class honors).

LETHBRIDGE MINERS HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

The Lethbridge miners, with their families and friends, to the number of about two thousand, journeyed to the Crows' Nest Pass on Friday last for their annual picnic and sports, and spent a most enjoyable day at Summerfelt Park, Coleman.

A special train of twenty coaches, drawn by a double header, was necessary to convey the party to the mountains. The day was ideal for the occasion and every one seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves.

The spirit of co-operation offered by the good people of Coleman in this connection was very pleasing to note. Lodge halls and other places were placed at the disposal of visiting ladies and children as rest rooms, with special attendants on hand at each place.

In the park, special open-air fire places had been arranged and were kept busy during the day.

A programme of sports was carried out, including foot races, jumps, baseball, football, etc., in all of which local parties and teams competed, the honors being about equally divided.

The visitors were met at the depot at 11 a.m. by the Coleman town band, which led the procession to the park. Midway in the long procession was the Lethbridge Caledonian pipe band, under Major Moore, and the enlivening music from the two bands proved quite pleasing.

Towards evening a light shower drove the party to shelter, when the spacious opera house and the arena were opened for their accommodation. At the arena the dancing pavilion was used to good advantage, music being furnished by a Lethbridge orchestra.

The visitors were highly pleased with the outing and were loud in their praise of the hearty reception and treatment accorded them by the people of Coleman and The Pass.

The Irishmen in Belfast are beginning to feel their morals slipping, and in order to keep their minds on business they are waging war against female help that arrives at offices bare-legged. SUSPECTED BANDIT ARRESTED

SMITHERS, B.C., July 30.—Indian trackers have finally run down a man whom the police believe to be the bandit who recently robbed the Royal Bank here of more than two thousand dollars. He gave his name as James Wesley Burt, a Canadian, aged 27. Time and again the man sought for has been cornered or sighted, but each time escaped. Only a few hours before his final arrival here he made his last escape.

The man had been hunted for about two weeks. Finally he was picked up by James Fairbairn and James Holland. They started to take him to Quick in the darkness, but when about half way the alleged bandit bolted, snatching a rifle, and disappearing into the bush.

Twenty men surrounded the country, and Indian trackers under Jack Joseph, found the suspected man asleep. He was taken to Smithers jail.

Eleven hundred dollars and a revolver were found at Walcott, where the robber, whoever he was, is believed to have hidden them. He had apparently been bluffed into giving up $800 immediately following the bank hold-up by an unnamed man who cornered him.

The hunt cost one life. William Robertson, while guarding the river bridge, was accidentally shot on July 23, when a gun in the hands of his 17-year-old son Frank went off while the elder Robertson was instructing his son in its use.

THROUGH good management the modern woman, just as the chateau of old, holds in her hands the keys to plenty; only to-day good measure comes through prudence in money matters.

Province To Exhibit Products and Resources At U.S. Fairs.

Alberta will again be advertised this season by an exhibit of agricultural products and natural resources to be shown at a number of state and county fairs in the United States. Tentative Schedule For Western Air Mail Service To Be Inaugurated In October According To Present Plans

The new air mail service in Western Canada operating between Winnipeg and Regina, between Regina and Edmonton, and between Regina and Banff, will be inaugurated early in October, if ground work can be completed in time it was announced by the post office department. A tentative schedule drawn up will send a plane roaring West from Winnipeg at 9 o'clock central standard time, every night to arrive at Banff at 6:45 a.m., Mountain time, early enough to have mail transferred to the train which left Winnipeg the previous morning.

Normally, postal matter mailed at Winnipeg during the 12 hours previous to the take-off of the plane would not reach Banff until the day after the machine's arrival. The new service by making use of a night flying route will be able to bring about a saving of 48 hours on matter mailed at Winnipeg and destined for the Pacific slope and 24 hours on transcontinental mail from points further east than Winnipeg which will be transferred from the train arriving at Winnipeg and rushed ahead by air to overtake the train which left the day before. The estimated mail will leave Banff at 11 p.m., Mountain time, and will arrive in Winnipeg at 9:15, central standard time the following morning catching the train which left Banff 24 hours before.

The schedule of the branch route between Regina and Edmonton has not yet been drawn up in any definite form.

No contribution ever made by his department gave him more satisfaction than the memorial park which had been set aside at St. Albert and in which the monument stood. Hon. Charles Stewart said in his address. The Alberta government gave its assistance and the Canadian National Railways donated and brought in the gravel for the highway leading to it.

In commenting on the creeds, races, and stations, represented in this gathering in honor of a great citizen, Mr. Stewart declared that the complex problems of race and creed in Canada would be settled by the broad tolerant united spirit which characterized today's ceremony.

Pioneer Missionary Honored

Exeminent Citizen Pays Tribute To Memory Of Father Lacombe

In honor of the man whom the Indians called "The Noble Soul" and "The Man with the Good Heart," and who has come to be known in history as one of the great pioneers in Western Canada, 3,000 men and women gathered at the little town of St. Albert, nine miles out of Edmonton, on the Canadian National Railways.

"For sixty-seven years he labored for God, his fellow men and his country," says the inscription on the base of the monument to Father Lacombe, and citizens prominent in the affairs of the northwest and of Canada itself paid tribute to him as a man, a teacher and a builder.

Born in Quebec in 1827, Father Lacombe came west in 1848 and built his mission at St. Albert nearly 60 years ago. Today, high on the hill, and within a step of the old log church which afterwards became the Cathedral, stands the life size figure in bronze of the great missionary. With cross uplifted as in the days of his heroism among the Indians, Father Lacombe stands and looks down over the valley. The statue was brought from France by means of the efforts of Rev. Father Jean, O.M.I., parish priest of St. Albert, assisted by prominent citizens and volunteers of Alberta and by a group of patrons of one of the most interested was Sir Henry Thornton.

The statue was unveiled by Patrick Burns, of Calgary, old friend of Father Lacombe, and addressed by delivered by Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, Lignery Lacombe, M.P., relative of the honored missionary and representative of Quebec.

No contribution ever made by his department gave him more satisfaction than the memorial park which had been set aside at St. Albert and in which the monument stood. Hon. Charles Stewart said in his address. The Alberta government gave its assistance and the Canadian National Railways donated and brought in the gravel for the highway leading to it.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

BEELSHAZZAR'S FEAST

Golden Text: "Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot."—Ephesians 5, 18.

Lesson: Daniel 1:3-16.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 1.

Explanations and Comments

Belshazzar's Feast, verses 1-4.—Belshazzar invited a number of his lords to a great feast, at which they drank wine from the gold and silver vessels which his father Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple in Jerusalem. And as they drank they praised the gods of gold and of silver, of brass, of iron, of wood, and of stone.

Quick, the king spoke, while his proud guests burst out laughing.

Quickly the servant went and returned.

He bore on his head the vessels of gold.

Of Jehovah's temple the plunder

With daring hand, in his frenzy grim.

The king seized a beaker and filled it with the wine of the banquet.

And drained to the dregs the sacred cup.

Amazing he cried, as he drunk it up.

"Jehovah, eternal scorn, I owe To Thee a monument of Babylon."

Thus the German poet Heine pictures the scene. Even to a pagan mind such a use of sacred vessels was sacrilege. It was a bold defiance of the Most High God.

The Writing On The Palace Wall Which the Wise Men Felt To Interpret, verses 5-9.—While they were thus reveling, they saw the fingers of a man's hand write upon the wall.

Belshazzar, frightened and called for the enchanters and soothsayers to interpret the writing, but they could neither read nor interpret it.

On the Queen's Advice, Daniel Is Brought Before the King, verses 10-16.—The queen entered the banquet hall and tried to calm the king by telling him that there was a man in his kingdom whom Nebuchadnezzar his father had made master of all the wise men, and he could interpret the dream. So Daniel was brought before the king, and he would read and interpret the writing, he should be clothed with purple (the royal attire), have a chain of gold about his neck and be clothed third ruler in the kingdom.

The Interpretation Of The Writing, verses 23-28.—This is the writing: 'Mene, Mene, Tekel, Upharasin,' that is, 'Numbered, Numbered, Weighed, and Divisions,' as the words given literally in the margin of our Bible.

Belshazzar was weighed in the balances and found wanting. If we put our lives into God's hands now, we need have no fear of passing into His hands then. We have our talents, but they are not greater than those of Belshazzar. We have our endowments and our opportunities, and they may be even greater than his, but this is certain: we have what Belshazzar had not—the example and teaching of Jesus Christ and the grace that never fails those who avail themselves of help divine."—J. The Singing Fool

SYNOPSIS
Marcus, the famous Broadway producer, takes a party of four to Blackie Joe's New York night club. Al Stone, Blackie's chief comedian and singing waiter, is desperately in love with Molly, the ballet singer, and begs her to read and sing his new song to him. After scornfully refusing and telling him she will never marry a waiter she goes to the Marcus table and tries to ingratiate herself with the great producer. Blackie, seeing Al's dejection, urges him to sing the song himself. To Molly, Al says he can't sing a love ballad, but finally he consents. Grace, the cigarette girl, who is deeply and unselfishly in love with Al, encourages him.

CHAPTER VI.

The room was filled with careless chatter as Al took his place beside the pianist, at the edge of the dance floor, to sing the heart song he had written to Molly. No one in the gay crowd seemed to notice him; no one except himself, Blackie Joe, and Grace knew that the next few moments meant to him success or failure with the girl he loved. He was plainly nervous at trying a ballad; his face went white and his hands gripped the side of the piano.

The pianist struck the opening bars and Al began the verse, haltingly but determinedly. He had located the one face he wanted to keep before his eyes throughout the song—Molly's. But Molly was busy talking to Marcus; she didn't even know Al was singing.

As he continued the people at the tables nearest him stopped talking and gave him their attention. Then it seemed as if he caught the merry-makers a little by surprise when they, too, became silent. He was singing as he had never sung before, throwing his whole soul into the words.

When he finished the verse and swung into the chorus the pianist whistled up at him. "Good boy, Al!"

And as the pianist ran his fingers swiftly up and down the ivory he marvelled at this singing waiter.

Had Diarrhoea Bowels So Active Feared For His Life

Mrs. R. J. Jago, Canobie, N.B., writes:—"My little boy, when three years old, had a severe attack of diarrhoea. The bowels were so active, and he vomited so much, I feared for his life. I tried many medicines, but he was always getting worse. A friend told me of and after the second dose I saw an improvement. I gave him almost half a bottle and he was completely relieved. I have used it for the other children, and my husband and myself. My husband gives it 'till it 'grazes,' and when he goes away from home to work he always takes a bottle with him."

who had been a comedian up until this moment and now suddenly unleashed a voice vibrating with sentimental appeal.

Al released when he reached the chorus. It was the chorus that would put him over or reveal him as a failure to Molly, but he felt it so deeply that he seemed to sing it without effort. Every person in the audience was blocked out from his vision except Molly—her vivacious face stood out alone in a sea of darkness. Yet he could not help but see that she was still talking to Marcus. She, among all the listeners in that big room, seemed to be heedless of his presence.

But as she whispered to Marcus a strange thing happened. The astute music producer heard the song and although he hadn't paid much attention to it at first, now he suddenly became all interest. He came out of a quick gesture, demanding silence, from her. He whispered curtly:

"Sh-h! I want to hear this."

It was the first time that evening he had listened to the song. He was astonished. She followed his gaze, fixed on Al, and she, too, began to listen. At first she saw a glance of amusement. Al's way—what did that waiter mean by trying a ballad? Then, after a moment, Molly also realized that Al was putting some new quality into the song. It was as if he had discarded the ordinary technique of ballad singing, and was creating his own method, the supremely natural method, as he went along. At times his voice dropped to a low, pleading croon; again he talked the words with all the fire of his command; and now his voice suddenly rose to a startling and passionate crescendo of appeal.

Molly was not stupid; she realized that the singing waiter she had scorned so recently was really creating a living song. Like the call of fate his full, resonant voice resonated the title—"Away!"—which occurred so frequently in the ballad, she stole a look at Marcus; he was leaning forward, giving Al his rapt attention.

As Al felt Molly's eyes on him and the floodgates of his soul opened, and to his intense delight and surprise he went on to sing the song. He was alone with her, adoring her, telling her of his love that would last always. He thought the song was going home—it seemed to him her eyes grew moist.

But the person most deeply affected was Grace, the cigarette girl. She stood, quietly leaning against the wall at the back of the room, and in the semi-darkness, no one saw the tears come to her eyes as she listened, unheeded, down her pretty cheeks. Oh, what wonder that she gave him to have Al sing that song, in that way, to her! Everything she possessed, her life!

Now for the first time she realized with what passionate devotion she loved him. Her lovely young bosom rose and fell rapidly and in her heart was a constant stinging ache that seemed to grow more intense with every word Al uttered. Dear little Grace, so loyal and so lovely, yet forced to stand aside unnoticed and see another woman, who didn't appreciate Al Stone, receive the homage that he tossed so eloquently at her feet. It was maddening to Grace, but there was nothing to be done about it. Except go on loving him and endure the pain in her heart.

Now she saw Blackie Joe approaching. She furtively tried to dry her tears. Blackie saw and understood her feeling at first glance but, like the good, understanding fellow he was, pretended not to notice. "Poor kid," he thought. "Well, that's the way it goes." Then he turned to Grace and whispered confidentially:

"Our cousin's not so bad after all, is he?"

Grace looked up and forced herself to smile happily. "He's wonderful!"

Finally the last notes of the music died away—the song was ended. Al stood for a moment as if in a trance, then quickly turned and walked toward the dressing room. The room was as silent as a desert night, not a crack of applause broke the stillness. Al's chin came down on his chest; he felt he had failed and he wanted to get out of the room as quickly as possible.

At the Marcus table Molly's eyes were fixed on his retreating figure. She was obviously affected, a faint smile that she didn't understand had risen in her heart. At any rate, she knew what Al meant now.

The reaction of Marcus to the song was decidedly different. He saw it as a piece of work, a medium for thrilling audiences. Turning to Molly he almost shouted: "That's a song! One of the best ballads I've heard!"

In a flash Molly realized that Al had just won his first triumph. A number that might put him over on Broadway and make him famous. Her eyes became intensely brilliant; she was thinking fast.

As Al approached the dressing room doorway he encountered Grace and Blackie. Swiftly he spoke:

"You see, it's no use—I knew I couldn't put over a ballad. For a moment it seemed I had Molly interested, but I couldn't hold her. And not a peep from the crowd."

But Al stopped, dashed. From the crowd came the slow rise of applause. They had been too closely held by the song to give vent to their emotions as he walked rapidly away, but now their feelings were released in a storm of appreciation. He had reached every one of them and their strenuous hand-clapping rode toward him like a great wave. They had never given him such a reception before.

As he swung about, facing them, his dejected look passed, and a smile crossed his features. Then he saw Molly's face turned toward him, while Marcus rose, leading the thunderous applause.

At Marcus's table Molly was celebrating her victory.

"That waiter's a singing fool—he's great! And who wrote that song? I want it for my revue."

For a moment Molly doubt not. Al's future was assured with the great Marcus determined to have his song. She began to lay her plans swiftly.

"The waiter wrote it," he answered. "The boy who just sang."

"The waiter wrote it?" repeated Marcus, amazed.

"Yes, but—" Molly smiled coquely. "I gave him the idea."

May Solve Problem

Floating Flying Ship Might Make

Never has Louis Bleriot lost his faith in the air. Never for a moment has he doubted the ultimate value to the world of the high-speed passenger plane.

Bleriot, whom the whole world will soon honor, has a keen brain which is ever busy with aerial problems. At the moment that active mind of his is concerned chiefly with the question of Atlantic aerial transport.

It is not the spectacular aspects of ocean flying that interest him. He wants to crown a great aerial career by instituting a regular commercial trans-Atlantic air service. To this end, in the big air works he controls, he is busy with the details of a very wonderful machine. Part ship it is, and also part flying machine. The big graceful hull reminds one rather of a giant motorboat.

The hull-structure actually is a self-contained marine craft intended to move on the surface of the water like a ship, being driven by a marine engine and an underwater screw. This ultra-modern ship does something more than sail the sea. It also rushes high through the air.

Provision is made for dropping in position above its hull a complete system of wings, air-engines, and propellers, and when thus equipped it becomes a powerful long-range flying machine. In any emergency, should the craft have to descend somewhere out at sea, the crew would be able to abandon their flying gear, and steer like a surface craft for the nearest liner or shore station.

That the solution of ocean flying may lie in the use of such "hybrids" of some type such as this is now M. Bleriot's conviction, and the trials of his first "flying ship" are eagerly awaited.

Making Flying Safer

Weather Reports Received By Pilots Give Location Of Storms

The following paragraph, lifted from the story of a reporter who recently travelled from Los Angeles to New York by the air-rail hook-up across the continent, "Treasure and the Santa Fe and Pennsylvania railroads, tells us as well as anything can the way in which airways are being made safe for passengers.

"Weather reports," writes the reporter, "told, in the west, between Winslow, Ariz., and Albuquerque. We took off, anyway, but two pilots talked with ground stations ahead and behind us by radio. They knew just where all the storms were. So we simply flew around them. The Albuquerque weather report told of three storms converging to the eastward, so we had to detour again, but we sped around them quickly in the midst of lightning and rain, and reached Clovis, N.M., before dark, which the pilot had not expected to do."

In a few words that paragraph tells how flying has passed the hit-or-miss stage and has made safety certain.

Figures Show Women Are Careful Drivers

Record Of Columbia Traffic Bureau Prove Bulk Of Offenders Are Men

The old-fashioned cartoonist who still shows the general public the belief in the inability of women to drive automobiles was given a severe test in figures made public by the District of Columbia Traffic Bureau. The bureau has been conducting an intensive campaign to cut down traffic accidents. Of 899 persons arrested for various violations of the traffic rules since July 1, only twenty-eight were women.

That's less than 3.2 per cent. of the total and indicates, according to ardent feminist calculators, that women are about thirty times as good as men when it comes to driving automobiles. The standpatters for the old doctrine, on the other hand, argue that it merely goes to show that most traffic policemen are of an excessively susceptible nature.

Adopting Western Ideas

Chinese Youth Have Good Times But Still Respect Parents

Although they may not say "Whoopee" in China, the modern Chinese youth makes it, and they call it "Whoopee." The younger generation in South China, are reaching for and adopting Western ideas," said G. P. Hamsworth, general agent of the Canadian National at Hong Kong, who passed through Winnipeg on his way to Hong Kong after spending a holiday in Europe and England.

"At the better entertainment places," continued Mr. Hamsworth, "you see the modern Chinese flapper with short skirts, bobbed hair and silk stockings, while the boys wear double-breasted suits and wide pants. They dance fox trots to our music, and have adopted English foods and eat it the way we eat it. The young people are also very fond of movies and Hong Kong and Shanghai have excellent theatres."

In spite of this change to Western ideas, it is very noticeable that the respect and admiration which the Chinese youth holds for his parents and older people is not disappearing.

SAVE THE CHILDREN

In Summer When Childhood Ailments Are Most Dangerous

Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather. Stomach troubles, cholera, infantile and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets relieve these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child they will prevent their coming. The Tablets are guaranteed to be absolutely harmless even to the new-born babe. They are especially good in summer because they regulate the bowels and keep the stomach sweet and pure. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 20 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockton, Ont.

Boy Scout Shoots Kodiak Bears

Will Write a Book Covering Trip Across Canada

Dick Douglas, world famous Boy Scout, who crossed Canada recently by Canadian National Railways, in the short space of a month, shot two hundred Kodiak bears in the island of Alaska. "Incredible as it may seem I shot two hundred bears while on my trip," said Dick, "one hundred and ninety eight with a camera, and two with a gun. One only measured 9 1/2, and I was told he was a bear 7, 1927, by a British vessel while in a most desolate part of the Pacific Ocean, 1,000 miles north of the Fiji Islands. In it was a message asking that it be returned to the Meteorological office of the British air ministry, which is having 494 ships sailing the seven seas drop similar bottles every day in a plan of securing data to be used in tracking sea currents.

ADVERTISING AIDS ALL

Newspaper advertising and the automobile have combined to bring the city shops to the very door of the farm house and the suburban home. Each week the newspapers bring a complete quotation of what can be bought, where it can be purchased and the prices asked. The sale is actually made through the advertising columns of the newspaper. A visit to the store next day by automobile completes the exchange of money for merchandise.

How much more convenient is this contrivance of modern commercial and industrial genius to the inefficient method of our forebears who knew only their personal needs. With them there was no alternative for the slow, tedious and disappointing expedient of going to town by wagon or cart and trusting in diligence and a stout pair of shoes to seek out the shop which sold that which they were in need of and which sold it at an acceptable price, if not at the lowest obtainable price.—Ex.

ALBERTA'S ROADS

There is bound to be conflict of opinion and judgment between the Alberta Motor Association officers and the Calgary Herald, which has made itself the mouthpiece of a persistent demand for heavy expenditures for gravelled roads in Alberta, on the one hand, and the government and the department which is responsible for the expenditures for construction of public highways, on the other hand. But that is no reason why The Herald should go so far as to declare the government's road policy "weak, inefficient and inadequate." Such assertions are not justified by the facts, in view of the misstatements and unfair comparisons which the Minister corrected at the Municipal Convention at Calgary, and since, The Minister pointed out that Alberta has much greater mileage of gravel surfaced roads than Saskatchewan has with a much larger population, and with less difficult country in which to build. Considering length of settlement, population and area to be covered, we are well ahead of Manitoba. The same factors considered, we are in advance of the Maritimes. Our development compares most favorably with Montana, in spite of the fact that they have received a great amount of federal aid. It does seem odd, the Minister might well point out, that North and South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Quebec, and the United States as a whole should be held up as a comparison to Alberta's advancement. Why not Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho and some other such states where the comparison would be a little more fair? The Minister rightly declared.

"Why does Alberta not capitalize its tourist traffic resources? The answer is that Alberta cannot capitalize them, because this province has a reputation for impassable wet weather highways." The Herald recklessly stated: "tourists are brought here under what amounts to false pretences," it said. The facts are that, beside the Calgary and Edmonton trail, Waterton and Banff are both served by excellent roads. In addition there are several hundred miles of really excellent gravelled roads, with thousands of miles of good dirt roads. The Minister justly retorted: "We can hardly be said to be bringing people to here under false pretences when they come from outside our boundaries on dirt roads and can drive through Alberta on good gravel roads into some of the most wonderful scenery in the world, with an alternative route to pass back into the United States. The statement is unfair and misleading."

The Minister also pointed out that the main construction on roads in Alberta by the province has been made from borrowed capital money. Further, the sum of approximately $1,430,000 represents the amount that will be required in the current year to meet the interest and sinking fund on the actual borrowings of the province for capital expenditure on roads. These capital expenditures, made by other governments in the past on roads, are still outstanding in bonds on which interest and sinking fund are being paid annually by the province.

Sylvan Lake and Gull Lake, after next year, will be open to tourists by gravelled roads, constructed by the provincial department of public works.

The municipal districts are doing splendid work on the whole in the grading of their roads and are meeting these costs out of current revenue. While tourist traffic is valuable, it is infinitely more to Alberta's advantage to have all its country roads improved for the better and speedier use of its people.—Red Deer Advocate.

DO NOT PASTE THEM

The practise of pasting the recently issued drivers' licenses in the owners' cars is considered foolish by Inspector Bavin, of the provincial police. Car stealing is made much easier by the fixture of the drivers' license in the car. Added to that, when a car is stolen and the owner is asked to produce his drivers' license, he is in a predicament.

The license should be kept on the owner's person, just like the keys of the car.—Ex.

According to provincial government officials, no "harvesters' excursions" will be run from Eastern Canada this year, as it is estimated that there is sufficient labor power in the West to cope with the situation.

Magistrate Hamilton, of Lethbridge, was a visitor to Blairmore on Saturday evening, enroute by motor to Spokane and other points on vacation. He was accompanied by Detective Hester, of the A.P.P., and Mr. Nelson Bernard, court stenographer. Stopping off over night, the party proceeded west Sunday morning.

Owing to the very large number of people daily frequenting the beautiful grounds at Lee Lake, to enjoy the bathing, etc., Mrs. Parker has deemed it necessary to make a nominal charge to parties on a basis of 25 cents per car or $5.00 for the season. The proceeds will be used to improve the bathing beaches and the camping grounds, which are continually in need of care. It is hoped that all a portion of the Lee Lake resort will be secured by the government for the public's benefit, and we understand such matter is already being seriously considered.

The work of cleaning out the town's water reservoir was completed on Monday night. With a gang of workmen under the supervision of the chief of police and members of the council, an excellent job was effected, this being the first cleaning the reservoir has had since about 1923. York Creek, in spite of the long spell of dry and hot weather, is furnishing an ample supply of good water, and there is every reason now to expect a considerable increase in the water pressure.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you now—Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acid. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

The Right Community Spirit

Every once in a while in the strenuous, and more or less selfish days of this modern, highly organized period of the world's history, some little incident of downright unselfishness, of the practical application of the Golden Rule, comes to light which does all good who hear of it, and revives our belief in the innate goodness of the majority of our fellow men, a belief which is frequently in danger of being wholly destroyed when we read of so much deceit, dishonesty, cruelty and crime.

Such an incident, causing a warm glow in our hearts, occurred in the Carleton Place, a few weeks ago. When Stanley Dugan and his eldest son, Garfield, died within three months of each other, leaving Mrs. Dugan and eight small children, the neighbors decided to help put in the crop. Therefore, on a given day, eighteen tractors gathered at the Dugan farm and plowed 160 acres in seven hours. The following day other neighbors harrowed and seeded the field. Neighbor women provided the "tea" for the "bees." While the "bees" was organized and managed by the Carleton Place I.O.O.F. No. 20, it was carried out as a community enterprise and is typical of the community spirit which prevails in the Carleton Place.

It was this same spirit that animated the early pioneers in Eastern Canada who joined forces in conquering the virgin forests, built roads, schools, churches, grist mills, and in "one" after another assisted each in turn to build homes and barns. And when this "great west" was opened to settlement, the same spirit prevailed, neighbor assisting neighbor through their difficulties, and in times of sickness and disaster. Only so was the settlement of Canada made possible, and the foundations laid for the successes of today.

It was the cultivation and practice of this neighborly community spirit of self-sacrifice and co-operation which established for the West its reputation of open-handed friendliness and generosity. But as population increases, cities and towns grow up, modern means of communication expand, the vacant spaces fill up, and a more highly organized and mechanical development takes place, there is danger of this fine old feeling of neighborliness disappearing. It would be a pity if this should happen, and it is vastly encouraging to learn of such a happening at Carleton Place.

And if we are losing something in actual practice of the community spirit in our larger centres of population, it is gratifying to know that it still prevails in the hearts of Western men and women. It is as strong as ever in the more remote and pioneer districts of the West, finding expression in the building of small community hospitals and Red Cross Outposts, in community churches and halls, in numerous "bees," and in numerous co-operative efforts for the welfare of all, regardless of race, language, creed, or worldly possessions.

Helpful as the neighborly assistance extended by the people of Carleton Place undoubtedly was to the bereaved Widow Dugan and her children, alleviating her sorrow and removing worry from her mind, we venture to say that they participated in extending that assistance, and found a glow of satisfaction, a joy, in rendering this service far greater than any realized by them from any successful venture undertaken in their own behalf.

Furthermore, the neighborly spirit and co-operation thus displayed, and the uniting of forces in the performance of a splendidly unselfish effort, cannot fail to leave its impress upon the whole community. It must inevitably make easier the settlement of those little disagreements and differences of opinion which arise in all communities regarding school, church, municipal, and other local affairs. It means that not Widow Dugan alone, but the whole community has benefited, because the right kind of a community spirit burns more brightly than before.

Find Canadian Wood Useful

London Firms Using Mill Waste For Making Linoleum

That shavings and other planing mill waste are being used experimentally in the manufacture of linoleum, in place of "wood flour," which is at present imported from the continent, was revealed in the annual report of the Department of Scientific Industrial Research, issued at London, England. The report dealt in particular with the development of the empire's timber resources. One London firm sought a suitable wood to make boot lasts. The department experimented and finally recommended that Canadian or home-grown birch would serve the purpose.

A Golf Triumph

First Amateur To Make Par On Famous Jasper Golf Course

For the first time in its history, an amateur has played the famous Jasper Park Lodge Golf Course in par. The triumph belongs to P. Tait, of Pasadena, California, son of one of the most noted golf families of Scotland. Par for the Jasper Golf Course, where the Canadian Amateur Championships will be played in August, is 70.

Mr. Tait's first visit to Jasper was a quarter of a century ago, when, as a surveyor he went through that country in advance of the railway.

They will promptly rid a child of worms and restore the health of the little sufferers whose vitality has been sapped by the attacks of these internal pests.

Women Control Wealth

About 41 Per Cent. Of Individual Wealth Of U.S. Held By Fair Sex

Approximately 41 per cent. of the individual wealth of the United States is controlled by women, so a recent bank survey shows. Should this proportion increase at the present rate, financial parity would be established by the year 2025. Women are receiving 70 per cent. of the estates left by men and 64 per cent. of the estates left by women. In addition they are the beneficiaries of 80 per cent. of the $95,000,000,000 worth of life insurance policies in force in this country. According to income tax reports the majority of incomes over $100,000 are in female hands, while over 90 per cent. of the entire income tax is paid by women. As a result of their financial ascendancy women comprise an actual majority of stockholders in the largest corporations in America, and constitute from 35 to 40 per cent. of investment house customers.

A TIRED OUT FEELING

Is a Sure Sign That the Blood Is Thin and Watery

"I am glad to have an opportunity of testifying to the benefits of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills," writes Mrs. Lawrence Kennedy, St. Joseph, N.B. She writes: "Some years ago I was working as a stenographer, and became badly run-down. I always had a tired-out feeling, had no appetite and suffered terribly from backache. Almost every month I had to remain from the office for a day or two. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I have reason to be glad that I followed this advice. Before I had been taking the pills very long I began to feel much better. Continuing the use of my strength came back, I regained my appetite and the terrible backache from which I had suffered disappeared. I have been married some years now and have two fine healthy children, a girl and a boy, and am in the best of health. All this I owe to Dr. Williams' famous Pink Pills, and I trust that these few lines may help some other weak, run-down person. All in all, run-down people will give this blood-building tonic a fair trial and find through its use new health and vigor. You can get the pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Recipes For This Week

(By Betty Barclay)

FRENCH CARAMEL CUSTARD

Four eggs, six tablespoons sugar, one cup milk and a little water. Beat the eggs in a cold, tasteless tart. Separate the egg-whites and yolks, and beat the whites until they are firm. Add four tablespoons of sugar to the yolks. Combine the whites and yolks, and add the milk, stirring the mixture slowly. Make a caramel, using two tablespoons sugar and one-half cup water. Pour this into a tin mold and then add the custard. Bake the mold in a pan of water and bake in a slow oven for twenty-five minutes, or until a knife blade will come out clean. When the custard is cold, turn it out on a platter and serve it with or without a sauce.

SPONGE CAKE

3 egg yolks.
1/2 cup sugar.
1/2 tablespoon lemon juice.
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind.
3 egg whites.
1/2 cup flour.
1/2 teaspoon salt.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored and add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add lemon juice, rind and stiffly beaten egg whites, folding mixture to keep in air. Cut and fold in flour and salt. Put in small deep cake pan and bake 40 minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit.

Big Game Hunting

Mother's Value This Oil—Mothers who know how suddenly group may seize their children and how necessary proper protection is to applying relief, always keep at hand a supply of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, because experience has taught that it is an excellent preparation for the treatment of this ailment. And they also know that its various uses render it a valuable medicine.

Has Escaped Lightly

Germany's Debt To Allies Reduced To Lowest Possible Amount

When Clemenceau, Wilson and Lloyd George met at Versailles in 1919, they decided that Germany must pay the Allies $125,000,000,000. This was when Lloyd George was shouting "Hang the Kaiser" and "Make Germany pay for the War."

The Kaiser wasn't hanged. Germany didn't begin to pay for the war. Germany didn't even begin to pay the $125,000,000,000. What happened was that financiers and technicians and statesmen kept arguing and wrangling, and the more they argued and wrangled the less likelihood was there for Germany to pay.

By 1923, with war memories fading, Germany's bill was cut down to $33,000,000,000. This was by the Dawes Commission.

Now the bill has been cut again. This time, Germany is given 599 years to pay $27,000,000,000, or, if she chooses, she can find her way clear, may pay $300,000,000 at once and call the thing square.

In other words Germany's bill is, at the worst, cut by nearly $100,000,000,000 from the original levy. It is a tremendous reduction. England is to get just enough to pay her war debts to the United States; France enough to pay the United States and England.

It was nonsense of course to ask Germany to pay $125,000,000,000, or anything like it. That would simply have broken Germany, impoverished her; nobody would have got anything.

So ends the chapter about making Germany pay for the war, certainly "The Great Illusion."—Ottawa Journal.

Mussolini Plans To

Close Italian Saloons

Has Closed Twenty-Seven Thousand In Last Five Years

Benoito Mussolini, in an interview published in the August issue of the World's Work, is quoted as saying that, principally for economic reasons, he intends to cut down wine consumption by Italians.

He has closed 27,000 saloons in five years. He Duce is quoted as saying, "Give me time and I will close them all."

Italy, he is quoted as declaring, devotes $5,000,000 acres of land to vineyards, or more than half of the total vineyard acreage of all Europe, consuming the entire production within its borders and importing more, while it is unable to raise enough wheat to meet its own needs.

Chief Submarine Disasters

Appealing Loss Of Life In Last Fourteen Years

Submarine disasters have taken a heavy toll of life in the navies of the world. Some of the major accidents to underscore fact follow:

March 24, 1915—United States submarine S-4 sunk in Honolulu Bay, loss of life 21.

1921—British submarine K-6 disappeared off the Sicily Islands while in diving practice, 57 dead.

January 10, 1924—British submarine H-42 sunk by a British destroyer near Gibraltar and 26 men killed.

August 21, 1923—Japanese submarine founded beside a dock at Kobe, Japan, 85 dead.

January 10, 1924—British submarine L-24 sunk by British battleship, Portland, England, Death list 43.

March 19, 1924—Japanese submarine sunk by Japanese battleship off Saebae, Japan, 40 dead.

September 25, 1925—U.S. submarine S-51 sunk off Block Island, R.I., by steamer, "City of Rome," 33 dead.

December 17, 1927—United States submarine S-4 sunk off Provincetown, Mass., by coast-guard cutter Fausch, 10 dead.

August 6, 1928—Italian submarine S-14 sunk in Adriatic Sea in collision with destroyer, 31 dead.

July 9, 1929—British naval submarine H-47 collided with the British submarine L-12, 22 miles off the coast of Penzance, Wales, in the Irish Sea, 24 lives lost.

The worst post-war British submarine disaster recorded took place in 1926, when the H-1 was sunk off Star Point with the loss of 68 lives.

Many British Premiers

Came From Scotland

Ramsay MacDonald Makes Fifth In Last Thirty Years

The Scotch appear to have a strong hold on the British premiership. J. Ramsay MacDonald is the fifth prime minister from Scotland in thirty years. The others were Lord Roseberry, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Earl Balfour, and Bonar Law.

During the same period, the Welsh had had one premier, David Lloyd George, and the English two, Lord Salisbury and Stanley Baldwin.

It Testifies For Itself.—Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil needs no testimonial of its power other than itself. Whoever tries it for coughs or colds, for cuts or contusions, for sprains or burns, for pains in the limbs or body, will know that medicine proves itself and needs no guarantee. This shows why this Oil is so general use.

Mrs. Goodkey Tells Her Experience with Pinkham's Compound

Bismarck, Alberta.—"The Change of Life was the trouble with me and I was run-down, thin, and weak and could not sleep, had a poor appetite and could not do much work. I am taking Lydia E. Northern Alberta Railways

Two Transcontinental Railways Take Over Lines In Alberta

On July 26 last, the four Alberta Government-owned railways—the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway, the Central Canadian Railway, the Alberta Great Waterways Railway and the Pembina Valley Railway—were taken over by the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National and merged into one concern to be known as the Northern Alberta Railways.

LONG SLEEP MAKES BABY HAPPY AGAIN

"He slept soundly from the first night and it made him look and feel wonderful. Avoid imitations."

"Von" Is Not Nido

Prohibition of the use of titles in the post-war republic of Czechoslovakia has not been applied to the word "Von," an appropriate social equivalent to the English "Sir." The constitutional supreme court ruled in the case of Ferdinand Zdenko Von Lobkowitz, the Czechoslovak minister of interior, that "von" was part of a name and not a title.

THE sun is the all-powerful life producer. Nature's universal disinfectant and germ destroyer, as well as stimulant and tonic. WINDOLITE is the sun's most important ally.

Medical research has definitely proved that from the point of view of Health and Hygiene, the most effective among the sun's rays, are the Ultra-Violet rays, which possess the greatest power for the prevention and cure of disease and debility.

Science has further established that ordinary window glass does not allow the passage of Ultra-Violet rays, so that by using glass we are artificially excluding these vital health-giving rays. Therefore, the invention of WINDOLITE has completely satisfied the long-felt want. Scientific experiments have conclusively proved that it is a most effective substitute for glass, that it freely admits the Ultra-Violet rays, and that its use has a most beneficial effect on the growth and development of plants and chickens and on the well-being of cattle, enabled for the first time to have healthy light instead of darkness in their sheds.

Lately, the discovery of WINDOLITE has during the last six years completely revolutionized gardening, given a new stimulus to poultry breeding, and that its use has increased the capacity and fertility of chickens, has greatly improved the health of cattle and is now being used in domestic and household requirements.

WINDOLITE stands for 100 per cent. sunlight. It makes light but strong windows for cattle sheds, dairy stables, poultry houses, brooders and all out buildings. It is economical, unbreakable, flexible and is easy to cut and set. It is now being successfully used for sunrooms, verandas, schools, hospitals, sanitariums, hot beds, plant coverings and greenhouses. It keeps out cold—will not crack or chip—cuts with an ordinary pair of scissors and is easy to use. WINDOLITE is supplied in rolls any length but in one width of 36 inches only. A square yard of WINDOLITE weighs about 14 lbs., while a square yard of glass of ordinary thickness weighs about 135 to 150 lbs. The improved WINDOLITE requires no varnish. WINDOLITE is made in England.

CANADA WOULD HELP U.S. TO STOP RUM RUNNING

Ottawa.—If the United States is prepared to check up on their own boats, Canada will consider no further, reasonable, measure to halt the liquor traffic across the border. This offer was made by Hon. W. D. Euler, minister of national revenue, in a statement replying to numerous petitions asking the government to refuse clearances to liquor-laden craft.

Canada is willing to keep Canadians out of the liquor export business, he said.

At present the United States has no regulation requiring their vessels to obtain clearances. Accordingly, the authorities there have no means of checking up on the activities of their own people, the statement points out. If the Canadian practice were carried out they would have a means of control which would provide in a large measure the remedy for the conditions for which they complain.

The statement reviews the rum-running situation between the two countries and in a general way replies to the barrage of communications which have been pouring in on the ministers from temperance people in Canada who wish their country to refuse liquor clearances.

The statement sets forth that practically 100 per cent of the rum runners are American citizens who ply their trade with United States boats, but if Canadian citizens and Canadian boats engaged in the traffic the government would be prepared to enact legislation dealing with the matter.

Only from two per cent to five per cent of the liquor consumed in the United States comes from Canada, the statement continues.

Canada spends a million dollars a year preventing liquor-smuggling from friendly countries which do not prohibit clearances.

Mr. Euler unequivocally denies that the government is favoring the liquor interests as a return for campaign funds. He points to the legal actions against brewers and distillers as proof of this.

Considerable emphasis is laid on the fact that the boats engaged in liquor-running along the Canadian border are required to get clearances by the Canadian government, but not by the government of the U.S. Mr. Euler thinks if the U.S. authorities would require clearances it would largely remedy the situation.

Should the Dominion Parliament enact legislation prohibiting clearances, the effect would probably be to "drive the traffic underground, saddle us with heavy expenses and do our neighbors no good."

Hoyt Returns To New York

Time Only Slightly Damaged In Making Forceful Landing

Winnipeg.—After successfully breaking the record flying time from New York to Nome, Alaska, Captain Ross G. Hoyt, of the United States Army, who was forced down by fuel trouble recently, on his return journey, at Valdemont, British Columbia, about 40 miles from Jasper National Park, passed through Winnipeg over Canadian National Railways, on his way to New York.

Flying by way of Minneapolis, Ed. London, White House, British Columbia, Alaska, and thence on to Nome, Hoyt made the flight, a distance of 4,300 miles, in 32 hours' actual flying time. It was on the return journey, near Valdemont, when he first noticed the trouble, and not having sufficient altitude to make the closest landing ground at Henry House, near Jasper, he was forced to land in a little valley, which damaged his plane.

The plane, although only slightly damaged, was beyond Valdemont's facilities for repairs, and the plane was loaded on a freight car for shipment to New York.

"My disappointment in not being able to fly home," Capt. Hoyt "was offset by the wonderful kindness and the many courtesies which the Canadian National Railways extended to me."

New Flying Instructor

Ottawa.—A. H. Wilson was approved by the civil aviation branch as instructor of the Vancouver Flying Club. He replaces Percy Hainstock, who was killed in the crash of the club's plane two days ago. Wilson formerly conducted a flying school for the British Columbia Airways at Victoria, B.C.

British Naval Reduction

Will Suspend Work On Cruiser and Submarine Construction

London, England.—In an intensely dramatic atmosphere, Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald revealed to the House of Commons the policy of the Labor Government in the matter of naval reduction. He declared that his ministry was prepared to walk hand in hand with the government of the United States to avoid competitive armament and finally, after a final agreement had been reached, it was planned to summon the nations of the world into conference on the subject of general paring down of armed forces and materials by land and sea.

Premier MacDonald first told of his conversations with the United States ambassador, General Charles G. Dawes, who was himself seated in the distinguished strangers' gallery along with other diplomats.

The government's purpose, he said, was to make the Kellogg anti-war pact an effective influence in international relations.

For the present the government proposed:

1.—To suspend all work on the cruisers Surrey and Northumberland, now under construction.

2.—To cancel the building of the submarine depot ship, Masthead.

3.—To cancel the building of two submarines already contracted for.

4.—To slow down dockyard work at other naval stations.

With regard to the 1929-1930 building program, the premier said in any case no further commitments would have been entered into before the autumn, but that no steps at all would be taken to proceed with it until the whole matter had received further consideration.

Premier MacDonald intimated October looked a likely month for his proposed visit to Washington for a conference with President Hoover for the purpose of advancing the objects of disarmament and world peace.

Rust Resisting Wheat

Results From Experiments Are Being Confidently Expected

Ottawa.—The experiments looking towards a variety of wheat which will be "real wheat" and at the same time have complete rust-resisting characteristics are being continued, said Dr. J. H. Grieland, deputy minister of agriculture, here recently, and results are being confidently hoped for.

While there are a number of rust-resisting varieties, certain difficulties have stood in the way of their development generally. At present those varieties are being experimented with in conjunction with the higher grades so that the results might produce a top grade of Canadian wheat to which the rust-resisting properties may adhere.

Canada's Population

Total Population Placed At 9,796,000 As At June 1st, 1929

Ottawa.—Canada's total population stood at 9,796,000 as of June 1, 1929, according to an estimate issued recently by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. This is an increase of approximately 38,000 persons over the same date last year, when the estimated population was 9,658,000.

The report, covering the years 1927-29, shows that the population of the Dominion has increased by more than 1,000,000 persons during that period. In 1921, the census recorded 8,788,483 persons.

Save for Prince Edward Island and the Yukon, all provinces enjoyed population increases during the last year.

Carried Patriotic Too Far

Winnipeg.—A Kristiansen, a visitor from the United States, was fined $25 and costs in police court on a charge of being disorderly in a public place. He complained noisily in a local theatre when the audience failed to applaud the American flag when a news reel parade picture was flashed on the screen.

Grain Standards Board

Winnipeg.—The newly appointed Grain Standards Board, which will designate the new 75-25 out-turn standard for grain shippers, met here and approved, with one exception, standards for all grades from number one northern to number six wheat.

Appointed Acting Judge

Ottawa.—Charles Morse, K.C., registrar of the exchequer court of Canada, has been appointed an acting judge of that court for the purpose of dealing with appeals arising out of the revocation of motor licenses.

Steamers En Route To Hudson's Bay

To Carry Out Government Plans For Northern Development

Ottawa.—Canada's annual advance on the north is now in full swing. Four steamers are hurrying north in connection with the government's plans for the development of that great territory. Three of them are bound for Hudson Straits, and Hudson Bay, to provide aid to navigation so that all will be ready when the port of Churchill is opened. The fourth, the steamship "Boothie," is on her annual cruise to the Canadian Arctic archipelago, where the various outposts will be visited.

The department of marines has sent the steamer "Agrammone" to Hudson Straits accompanied by the steamship "Sambro" to construct a direction-finding station on Resolution Island. The steamship "Acadia" is on her way to Churchill with a hydrographic party to survey the approaches of that port.

CRUISER BUILDING PROGRAM OF U.S. TO BE CANCELLED

Washington.—In a formal statement, President Hoover announced that the construction of the cruisers included in this year's naval building program would not be begun until there has been an opportunity for consideration of their effect upon the final agreement for naval parity which, he said, he expected would be reached between Great Britain and the United States.

The president declared he had read with "real satisfaction" the statement of Premier MacDonald made in the House of Commons. Mr. Hoover declared the American people were "greatly complimented" by Premier MacDonald's proposed visit and that he would find a universal welcome in the United States.

"Mr. MacDonald, the president said, 'has introduced the principle of parity which we now have adopted and its consummation means that Great Britain and the United States are now on an equal footing in armament as potential opponents, but to co-operate as friends in the reduction of it.'"

Asserting that he could not but be responsive to the principles enunciated by MacDonald, Mr. Hoover declared the United States joins the British premier in his efforts toward disarmament in the same spirit.

Mr. MacDonald has indicated the good-will and positive intention of the British Government by suspension of construction of certain portions of this year's British program.

"It is the desire of the United States to show equal good-will in our approach to the problem."

"We have three cruisers in this year's construction which have been undertaken in the government navy under the detailed drawings for which are now in course of preparation."

"Actual keels would, in the ordinary course, be laid down some time this fall. Generally speaking, the British cruiser strength considerably exceeds American strength at the present time and the actual construction of these three cruisers would not be likely in themselves to produce inequality in the final result."

"We do not wish, however, to have any misunderstanding of our action and therefore we shall not lay these keels until there has been an opportunity for full consideration of their effect upon the final agreement for parity which we expect to reach, although our hopes of relief from construction lie more largely in the latter years of the program under the law of 1922."

No Extra Harvesters Needed For West

Sufficient Help In Canada Says Minister Of Immigration

Winnipeg.—With a light grain crop in Western Canada this year, the Canadian Government has decided to extend no call to Great Britain for the unemployed there to come to the Dominion and help in the harvesting, declared Hon. Robert Poirer, Canadian minister of immigration, who was in Winnipeg recently. He stressed the fact that there is sufficient help in Canada to successfully harvest this year's crop.

"I have been through the west," he declared, "and I found crops rather light. This means that we will not need as many harvesters this year as last. There are sufficient men in Canada to harvest this year's crop."

Need Great Empire Policy

Otherwise Great Britain Will Sink To A Second Class Power, Says Conservative Candidate

London, England.—Unless a great Empire policy is adopted, Great Britain will sink to the position of a second class power, said Sir John Ferguson, Conservative candidate in the by-election in Twickenham, in a statement to his supporters at Hounslow explaining his Empire free trade policy.

Conservative headquarters declined to support Sir John because his Empire trade policy is inconsistent with the general party program and their action has given rise to a lively debate within the Conservative party.

Was Worst Shock Country Has Experienced In Years

Many of the island's residents spent the night under the open sky.

New President Elected

Native Of Winnipeg Honored By British Medical Association

Manchester, Eng.—Dr. Harvey Smith, a native of Winnipeg, was formally elected president of the British Medical Association. The association will meet in Winnipeg next year, and Dr. Smith remarked the association's visit to the city was extended when the association met in Montreal 33 years ago.

"It seems a long time to wait, but ultimately the great reward comes to us," he said.

CHINESE ANXIOUS TO AVERT WAR WITH RUSSIA

London, Eng.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, foreign secretary, told the House of Commons that he had reason to hope that the danger of war would be averted in the Russo-Chinese situation.

He said he had received from the Chinese charge d'affaires assurance from the Chinese Government that it was anxious for a pacific solution, that it would take no aggressive action and that it was ready for a round table conference with Soviet representatives.

The assurance added, said Mr. Henderson, that if Soviet Russia should resort to forcible measures the Chinese government would appeal to the League of Nations under articles of the Covenant.

Suggestions were made in London that the Chinese nationalist government has asked the Japanese government to intervene in its controversy with Soviet Russia to avert actual hostilities between them.

The visit of the Chinese minister, Mr. Wangtun, Baron Shidobara, Japanese foreign minister at Tokyo, was believed to have offered the opportunity for such a request. There was some speculation as to whether the Chinese authorities in the report of arrest of 300 other Russian employees of the Chinese Eastern had not further complicated the situation which had begun to appear much less tense than formerly.

"It was believed in any event that the Japanese action, which Reuters said it had learned authoritatively had been taken, in closing the Manchurian southern railroad to troop movements, would deter militants among the Chinese who would thus find themselves in a difficult situation by the big rise. This action was taken on the basis of a report submitted by G. B. Henwood, deputy attorney-general, and H. A. Craig, deputy minister of agriculture, who visited the stricken town and conferred with a committee of the town council as to necessary relief measures."

Attention still was centred here upon attempts of the United States to intervene. General belief was that the invoking of the Kellogg pact would be successful in averting hostilities.

Answering questions in the House of Commons, Right Hon. Thomas Shaw, secretary for war, gave this assurance. The minister declined to say whether he considered the present British forces in China adequate or too large.

At present there are six British battalions and one battalion of Indian troops stationed in China, the minister said.

PONTIFF EMERGES FROM VATICAN AFTER LONG WAIT

Vatican City.—The 59-year existence of the "prisoner of the Vatican" was ended as Pope Pius XI emerged from the Vatican palace in a procession much as the Eternal City has not witnessed since the days of lavish medieval religious pageantry.

Following a long procession which was more brilliant and colorful than even the most enthusiastic had predicted, the head of the Roman Catholic Church was borne from the wide entrance of St. Peter's Cathedral in the last hours of daylight. Before a crowd of hundreds of thousands, the Pope was carried on a dais around the Colonnades of St. Peter's Square and returned again to the altar beneath the massive dome of the cathedral.

He held between his hands the golden monstrance of the Sacred Host and there spread out around him the elaborately costumed officials and functionaries of the state Vatican City, flanked by the black mass of a vast crowd of spectators.

For a moment at the climax of the ceremony, the figure of the Pope was a mass of white and gold which appeared to be a scintillating statue as it rested motionless in the deep twilight amid the countless candle flames in the hands of those around the altar.

The swelling chant of the chorists was stilled and the Pope blessed the crowd.

Pope Pius left the entrance of St. Peter's Cathedral at 7.35 p.m. at the end of a long procession which had passed around the square. He was returned to the altar at 8.06 p.m.

The procession formally marked the emergence of the Pope under the recently signed Lateran Treaties, as sovereign of the state of Vatican City.

Although he did not leave Vatican City territory, it was the first time since the fall of the church's temporal power in 1870, that a Pope had left the Vatican palace grounds. The crowd was so great that officials found it difficult to estimate but far more than 200,000 persons packed the great square and all available surrounding points.

The long procession, its choirs chanting hymns, moved with great solemnity from the wide doors of the cathedral, proceeding around the Colonnades of St. Peter's, returning to the cathedral where the Pope, surrounded by the brilliantly costumed company, raised high the glittering monstrance and blessed the crowd. A splendid climax to the ceremony of the release of the prisoner of the Vatican.
